

HANDBOOK OF

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES 2005

All information in this publication is correct as at November 2004, but is subject to change from time to time. In particular, the University reserves the right to change the content or the method of presentation of any unit of study, or to withdraw any unit or course of study it offers, or to impose limitations on enrolment in any unit or course of study.

Updated information may be obtained by checking the internet (www.handbook.mq.edu.au) or by personal enquiry.

The Arms of the University

AND GLADLY TECHE

*Of studie took he moost cure and moost heede,
Noght o word spak he moore than was neede,
And that was seyde in forme and reverence,
And short and quyk and ful of hy sentence;
Sownynge in moral vertu was his speche,
And gladly wolde he lerne and gladly teche.*

*(from the general Prologue to
The Canterbury Tales,*

by Geoffrey Chaucer c.1400)

By-law XIII 1 states that The arms of the University shall be on a field vert, the Macquarie Lighthouse tower, masoned proper, in chief the star Sirius, or. Motto: And gladly teche.

Macquarie University's colours are green (British Colour Council Dictionary No. 26), gold (B.C.C. No. 114) and white. The green is to be regarded as the basic colour, and is to be used in the following combinations: green with gold and white; green with gold; green with white. The manner and use of the University's colours are the subject of Council approval on the recommendation of the Ceremonials Committee.

The Motto of Macquarie University is
'And Gladly teche'.

Form of Bequest to Macquarie University

For the guidance of persons who may be contemplating making gifts by Will to the University, it is suggested that the following words may be appropriate:

"I give to Macquarie University the sum of

.....
and I direct that the receipt of the Director of Financial Services and Bursar for the time being of Macquarie University shall be a sufficient discharge for the same."

The University will be careful to carry out any expressed wishes of a testator as to the purposes to which the gift is to be applied and will, in the case of a substantial gift, take action to perpetuate the name of the donor.

It would be advantageous if the testator were to express in terms as general as possible any request relating to the application of the gift. Otherwise, the University could encounter difficulty in giving effect to the real intentions of a testator by detailed directions which are no longer appropriate to changed conditions.

GUIDE TO THE HANDBOOK OF POSTGRADUATE STUDIES

The Macquarie University Handbook of Postgraduate Studies is one of three volumes that together represent the official reference to Macquarie University. It includes an overview of the University, details of University legislation, rules and regulations, principal dates in the University year and names of staff members at the time of publication.

The content of each of the Parts of the Handbook is described below.

A detailed Table of Contents is on the first page of each Part.

A Summary Table of Contents, for the entire publication, appears on the following page.

An Index at the end of the Handbook provides quick reference to particular topics.

PART ONE UNIVERSITY OVERVIEW

The first Part of the Handbook begins with an introduction to Macquarie University and gives some general information about the campus. It includes the principal dates for 2004 and details the various services, facilities and resources available to students and staff. Information on the various University museums, teaching collections, research resources and Centres is also included. There is also included a list of current University staff members.

PART TWO POSTGRADUATE STUDY

The second Part of the Handbook contains all formal information relating to postgraduate study; the rules governing study, general postgraduate student information and details relating to admission, enrolment, records, examinations, scholarships and prizes. The chapter headed Degrees and Diplomas Offered is followed by some more detailed information on programs of postgraduate study and research in the various Divisions and Departments of the University.

PART THREE POSTGRADUATE UNITS OF STUDY

This Part of the Handbook details every unit of postgraduate study offered, with a brief description of each unit.